1. Minister Dr. Prokop Drtina negotiating for the National Socialist Party arrived at a compromise with the Communist Party on the fate of General Sergei Ingr, Minister of National Defense of the Exile Government in London.
2. General Ingr refused to yield to pressure asking for his retirement. The following arrangement was worked out: The General will take a diplomatic assignment as minister to Egypt for one year, maintaining his position in the army the while. After this year he will return to active service in the army. As highest ranking officer the delicate problem of placing him will then have to be faced.
